

Tune into the radio this September in Vilnius—the frequency that will spill a street dance onto the city. It's possible that you saw something like that before in the 80s: dance floors will appear in the streets, in city squares, in your garden, and your neighbors' car. It will guide you through the city, and teach you how to use the music as the music uses you. The radio frequency might cut off too soon but if you tune in on time you'll help the city burn: www.vilniusburning.lt
